A TEENAGER in need of a kidney transplant is angry she will not be allowed a sickness benefit.

Brooke Johnson, 19, of Manor Road, Harlow, has autoimmunity, a condition that causes the body’s immune system to attack healthy cells.

After suffering symptoms including anaemia, nausea, high blood pressure, vision problems and fatigue, she was forced to quit her job at Home Bargains and defer studying for her A levels.

With her medical bills soaring, Brooke’s family were hoping state support could ease their financial pressures, but now feel failed by the system.

Diagnosed

Brooke said: “My body eats itself. I have had it for years but I was only diagnosed in April.

“The tiredness is unreal and I can not walk very far. I could not work because of it and I have constant hospital visits.

“It was really bad to leave my job as I did enjoy it there. I am doing nothing, just waiting around for hospital appointments.”

She needs a new kidney and has to have dialysis. Members of her family are being considered as potential kidney donors.

While Brooke is confident of finding a donor, they would need to be compatible and the process could take at least a year.

She expressed her gratitude to those who have offered to be donors.

Her medication costs £43 a month and every trip to a specialist at Lister Hospital in Stevenage costs £20, not including petrol and parking costs, which has left the family struggling to make ends meet.

In addition Darren Johnson, Brooke’s father, has to take holiday time from work to give her a lift.

Brooke added: “I thought I would be entitled to ESA (employment and support allowance benefit).

“But when I got there [to the Job centre] they said I was not.”

She explained that because her boyfriend Joseph lives with the family they are seen as a cohabiting couple in the eyes of the law. Joseph is therefore expected to foot the bill, despite an income described as “low”.

“I get down and it is a very bad situation,” said Brooke, who hopes to study to be a forensic pathologist.

Patricia Slominski, Brooke’s grandmother, said: “I am hoping this time next year she can have her life back. She is very bright.”

Entitled

“Her family pays for the medication but I think she is entitled to something in her own right,” Brooke explained.

“She has been badly let down and I think it is disgusting.”

Brooke’s mum Tara has started a petition and will contact Harlow MP Robert Halfon to ask for support.

“I want to let people know how things like this happen,” she said.

“Everyone has let her down.”

A spokesman from the Department for Work and Pensions said: “Income-related ESA is prioritised for people in low-income households.

“Someone’s eligibility may be affected by their partner’s income.”

Father hopes new inquest will get justice for Stuart

Dad says first hearing into son’s death was ‘defective in serious ways’

TERRY Lubbock wants a second inquest into his son’s death

‘Ten years ago the police arrested Barrymore and two other men on suspicion of rape, assault and murder.

“But shortly after they were released. There are a lot of question marks.”

Tory Bennett, legal advisor to Mr Lubbock, penned the letter of appeal.

His reason for wanting a second inquest include a policeman’s statement that Mr Lubbock’s body was found in the pool was ‘false’. Essex Police committed ‘misconduct’ in allowing Mr Barrymore’s manager Mike Brown to record the crucial pool temperature and the police ‘failed’ to analyze the evidence properly.

Mr Barrymore’s High Court proceedings against Essex Police began in May and are yet to be resolved.

Mr Lubbock said: “We waited for a long time to collect that evidence.

“I think it is a 90/10 situation (of the second inquest going ahead).”

“It did not go well in the first inquest.

“I trusted the police and they let me down.”

Mr Lubbock previously welcomed news Mr Barrymore is attempting to make a TV comeback which he felt could be a ‘watershed’ moment for the case.

Recently he said residents had spoken of hearing “loud screaming” coming from the mansion at around 4am.

He added: “It has been so long. I think there might have loosened their lips about what happened. The main reason (for wanting a second inquest) is that hopefully somebody who went to that party will come forward. That could be an introduction to what happened.”

A decision about whether to hold a second inquest is unlikely to be made for several weeks.

■ If you have information about Mr Lubbock’s death please call police on 101.

ESSEX Police has launched a campaign to recruit more full time constables for the force.

Harrington, who has been a frontline, defensive skills and community policing teams.

It has 18 weeks at the Essex Police training which consists of:

■ 10 weeks assigned to local policing;
■ 18 weeks of investigation training with attachments to our CID, domestic abuse investigation, public protection and community policing teams.

Various

During their time at college, recruits will learn about the role of the police, how to deal with various situations they will face on the frontline, defensive skills and first aid training, crime scene management, interviewing and suspiscious interview training among other practical skills.

Deputy Chief Constable BJ Harrington, who has been a police officer for 27 years, said: “I joined the police service because I wanted to help people, keep them safe, catch bad guys and give something back to the community.

“For me being a police officer is about standing up for people and what is right. If those things appeal to you then being a police officer is a fantastic career choice.

“It’s an exciting job where no two days are ever the same and you can go home at the end of your shift knowing that you’ve been doing something to make the world safer.

“Since I joined Essex Police I’ve seen first-hand what a great force it is. The workforce is alive with people who are full of passion and enthusiasm, with victims at the heart of all we do.

“Most importantly this campaign is making a huge difference in keeping the communities of Essex safe - be part of that and come join us.”

Essex Police is also hosting a careers event for those interested in becoming a Police Constable.

It takes place on Tuesday July 11 from 9am to 3.30pm at Harlow College in Velizy Avenue, Harlow, CM20 3EZ.

Campaign to promote career as a constable

ESSEX Police has launched a campaign to recruit more full time constables for the force.

The “Fit the Bill” campaign features serving Essex Police officers and aims to showcase the variety of roles on offer within the force and the varied backgrounds team members have come from.

As well as making a difference to the lives of people in the community, recruits will benefit from an exciting career, where no two days are the same.

If you think can care for vulnerable people, protect the innocent, lock up criminals, run towards danger and investigate complex and challenging crimes, then you may just fit the bill to join your local police force.

In time, constables will also have the opportunity to progress to specialist roles with the opportunity to work in teams including CID, firearms, sexual abuse investigation, economic crime, roads policing and more.

As a new Police Constable, recruits will begin on a salary of £21,689 which could rise to £40,000 within the first seven years.

New starters will also benefit from being able to join the police pension scheme and can expect five weeks leave each year.

Joiners will take part in training which consists of:

■ 18 weeks at the Essex Police College;
■ 10 weeks assigned to local policing;
■ 16 weeks of investigation training with attachments to our CID, domestic abuse investigation, public protection and community policing teams.

Council officer dedicated himself to improving area’s green spaces

By William Mata

A CHAMPION of Harlow’s environment and green spaces has died at the age of 48.

Harlow Council officer Darren Fazackerley died on Friday, June 23, following 23 years of service at the local authority.

Most recently he served as landscape and biodiversity manager, but he will be best remembered for helping secure prestigious green flag honours for Parndon Wood Nature Reserve and Harlow Town Park.

Jon Clempner, council leader, said: “Colleagues across the council were shocked and saddened to hear of Darren’s passing.”

“He worked for the council for 23 years and he was widely known by many environmental community groups and volunteers who help to maintain the town.

“Darren was instrumental in Harlow achieving its first ever Green Flag award at Parndon Wood Nature Reserve in 2009, an accolade that the reserve has held on to for eight years in a row.

“This achievement, along with the Town Park getting its first award last year, was something which he was extremely proud of and rightly so.”

Mr Fazackerley leaves behind his wife and two children.

Mr Clempner continued: “He also loved running and keeping fit and was part of the council team that supported Parkrun to successfully set up in the Town Park.

“He took part in many events outside of work to raise money for charity.”

“Our thoughts at this time are with Darren’s family and all those who knew him,” added Mr Clempner “His contribution to the town, commitment to the council and support he gave to local groups will be sorely missed.”

Man took OAP’s credit card after asking for help

A PENSIONER is furious after a man she helped in the street stole her credit card. Joan Barnes, 81, was heading towards Sainsbury’s in Ongar with her husband John when they were approached by a stranger on Saturday morning.

The man, who Joan has described as being in his 30s, smartly dressed and speaking with an Eastern European accent, asked the couple if they had change. Joan, from Great Stony Park in Ongar, said: “We were walking along our side of the road and as we got towards the Tesco, a guy came up the road, approached us and asked my husband if he could change a £2 coin.”

“John took out two £1 coins but the guy said it was no good as he needed a 50 pence piece. “I said I thought I had a 50p. Joan, who had her purse in her hand, opened it up to try and find the right change for the stranger. It was at this point the unknown man took the purse from her, claiming to have seen the coin he supposedly desired. Taken aback by this bold move, Joan grabbed back her purse, insisting she would find the coin herself.

“I didn’t take my eyes off him,” said Joan, a retired bookkeeper and personal assistant. Another

“I got him a 50p, then got him another one and we went off to Sainsbury’s. “I went to pay at the till and I realised he had taken my credit card but no money or anything else was missing.’

The couple quickly headed to Ongar police station, but on finding it closed, they rushed home so Joan could contact Sainsbury’s Bank to report the theft. After speaking to various departments, she was finally put through to an adviser who had some shocking news for her. “I was on the phone for so long,” said grandmother of three Joan. “They said someone had my four-digit pin but I’m sure no one could have done it. I was so certain.

“I got passed to different people and then one adviser asked me if I had spent any large amounts.”

It turned out that three huge transactions totalling around £2,500 had been charged to Joan’s card within ten minutes of each other. To make the situation even more confusing, the transactions could be traced back to a town in Germany that Joan had never heard of.

Court shown footage of group following attack victim

A GROUP of six men charged with GBH allegedly attacked a victim who “twerked,” in a Harlow nightclub.

Luke Martin was accused of responding angrily to a man who “grinded up against him”, in Twenty One Bar on September 4, 2015, and being one of five men to later beat him up outside at around 3.30am.

Martin, 19, of Joyner’s Field, Harlow, has pleaded not guilty to one count of GBH, as have other defendants Jordan Hinton, 20, of The Briars, Harlow; Danny Lockett, 21, of Little Bras, Harlow; Craig Quinnell, 22, of Long Banks, Harlow; Luke Quinnell, 19, of Long Banks, Harlow and Sean Stuart, whose age and address could not be supplied. Gather

On the first day of the trial on Tuesday July 4, Chelmsford Crown Court saw CCTV footage showing the six gather and follow the victim, but the incident happened off camera. Anwar Nashashibi, prosecuting, said: “The victim was knocked down unconsciously by a punch and was kicked and punched in the body and head.”

In a statement heard in court the victim said he suffered a fractured cheekbone, skull, nose and eye socket, while also being left with memory and hearing loss.

He also was unable to work for a period which cost him £1,200 in wages. Mr Nashashibi said: “The motive was a perceived insult to Luke Martin that happened inside the club, it seems the vic tim twerked to him. “The bouncer asked him to leave the club. He wanted revenge and the defendants helped him to get it. They said they wanted to ‘knock him’. “The barrister said the victim’s friends had tried to stop the attack but they carried on punching and kicking even when he was unconscious.”

It is believed the victim was drunk at the time.

It was revealed Hinton, in a text message to his mum the same night, wrote: “(I had a fight) with some kid. “He ripped Luke’s shirt so it kicked off. “Luke pushed him because he tried to twerk with him.”

The court heard in a text to his girlfriend Martin said the group knocked out the victim and wrote: “Let’s hope they don’t catch me or anyone else it’s five years straight.”

Statements

The statements given by five of the defendants, excluding Stuart, denied they were aggressors and that someone they did not know was the perpetrator.

In Martin’s statement the defendant recalled giving the vic tim a slap in the face once he was on the ground to see if he was all right.

Sasha Bailey, defending Martin, disputed whether her client had been seen acting aggressiv ey.

The trial continues.
Man found with fractured skull is fighting for his life

Police seek witnesses after saying casualty may have been assaulted

By Narbeh Minassian

STAR, Thursday, July 6, 2017

POLICE were called to a street in Harlow after a man was left fighting for his life with a serious head injury.

Officers believe the casualty, who is in his 30s and was taken by air ambulance to Addenbrooke's Hospital in Cambridge, may have been assaulted.

He was taken to Addenbrooke's Hospital in Cambridge after suffering a suspected fractured skull.

His injuries are life threatening and he remains in a critical condition in hospital.

Evidence

A video from the scene shows two police cars and a van in Longfield with what look like evidence marking cones laid down.

Police and paramedics were called at 11.30pm last Monday evening following reports that a man had suffered a serious head injury.

Detectives have opened an investigation into the incident, so any witnesses to the incident are asked to come forward.

Investigating officer Detective Constable Richard Canning, of Harlow CID said: “We are still trying to establish the circumstances of what led to this man suffering serious head injuries. However we do believe he was assaulted and some people were seen running away from the scene.

“We would like to hear from anyone who may have witnessed the incident who can help us establish exactly what happened.”

Witnesses or anyone with information can contact Harlow CID on 101 or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Trial of six accused of GBH starts

THE trial of six men charged with causing grievous bodily harm to one man in Harlow Market Square nearly two years ago started this week.

The half-dozen defendants all previously pleaded not guilty to the charge relating to an incident on September 4, 2015, and appeared in Chelmsford Crown Court on Monday.

Allowed

Judge Jonathan Seely, who allowed all counsel to remove wigs in a hot courtroom, swore in and then dismissed the jury.

The defendants, who all have the same indictment, are: Jordan Hinton, 20, of The Briars, Harlow; Danny Lockett, 21, of Little Brays, Harlow; Luke Martin, 19, of Joyners Field, Harlow; Craig Quennell, 22, of Long Banks, Harlow; Luke Quennell, 19, of Long Banks, Harlow and Sean Stuart, whose age and address could not be supplied.

The trial proper began on Tuesday.

Community groups in with chance to win £25k cash pot

THE OneFamily Community Awards is open for nominations and the financial services provider is urging its customers across Essex to enter.

There are different categories: health, disability and social care; lifelong learning; active living; and community groups.

Each category will have eight winners with four projects receiving up to £5,000 and three projects winning up to £10,000.

One lucky project will be awarded a whopping £25,000.

The Community Awards are an excellent way for OneFamily to give something back to their customers.

Support

Karl Elliott, customer strategy director at OneFamily, said: ‘As we are owned by our customers we want to do more than just provide great products.

“We want to help our customers, their families and the communities where they live in other ways, and our OneFamily Foundation enables us to do just that.”

The OneFamily Foundation was created to give the customers the opportunity to support their local community.

Last year, Chingford Tennis Club was awarded £5,000 to revamp the worn-out courts at Rolls Park Sports Ground.

The renovation will benefit the club’s 300 regular members, from a variety of generations.

Karl added: “In 2016, we touched the lives of more than 100,000 people through the awards, and this year we want to help even more – giving even more people and communities the chance to get involved.

Projects

“Projects must be nominated to be in with a chance of winning, so I want to encourage OneFamily customers across Essex to get involved and nominate the good causes that mean the most to them.”

The Community Awards are currently open for entries and close on Wednesday July 19.

OneFamily customers can nominate their local project through their website - visit www.onefamily.com

Harlow voted one of worst places to shop

Town comes in at 779 out of 1,000 in retail health survey

Harlow has been ranked as one of the worst towns for shopping, according to a new report.

In the study carried out by retail specialists Harper Dennis Hobbs, 1,000 retail centres across the country were assessed based on their ‘retail health’, with Harlow coming in at 779th.

Factors

A combination of factors are taken into account when determining the ranking of each centre forming what is known as the Vitality Index.

These include the proportion of up-market shops, the proportion of value-led shops, the vacancy rate and the proportion of what are referred to as ‘undesirable’ shops such as pawn-brokers, money lenders, and bookmakers.

Additionally, these variables are compared to the demographic of the centre and its catchment area and are given a greater score if the two integrate well to add to the local community.

Jonathan De Mello, head of retail consultancy at Harper Dennis Hobbs, said: “By popular demand from both retailers and investors, HDH have incorporated additional small towns and high streets, which gives a greater range to the ranking, and allows for comparison of local high streets with major retail destinations.

“We’ve also included a number of temporal variables, tracking the change in retail mix of a centre over the past five years, to credit those that have improved, and penalise those that have deteriorated.”

Closures

Harlow recently saw the closure of Linens Direct in The Harvey Centre and Dorothy Perkins in The Water Gardens.

Cambridge took number one spot as the best place to shop, while Westfield in London came second, followed by Knightsbridge in third.

Shopping in nearby Bishop’s Stortford ranked in at 129 and shopping in Hertford was placed at 127.

78-year-old man makes first appearance in crown court facing historical child sex abuse charges

A 78-YEAR-OLD Harlow man facing eight child sex abuse charges has made his first appearance in Chelmsford Crown Court on Monday and prosecutor Marc Brown summarised the charges.

“Bullying”

He told the court the complainants said Lyall sexually abused them, in some cases, by touching them and forcing them to masturbate him.

Mr Brown said: “The defendant was a bullying and domineering figure who could be quite violent.”

Both Lyall, wearing a white shirt and green cardigan, and defence barrister Janick Fielding did not speak. Judge David Turner QC told the jury to return to the court for the first day of the trial proper from 10am on Wednesday.

He said: “These are serious charges which he faces many many years after they occurred.”

Historical

“He deeply refutes the allegations. The crown court is trying a lot of these (historical) cases these days. These cases are often quite nuanced and you need to have your thinking caps on.”

The trial continues
Concerns as fire station loses its aerial platform

Service claims equipment attends ‘relatively few call outs’

By William Mata

Harlow Fire Station will lose its aerial ladder platform (ALP) which can be used to treat tower block fires.

Essex County Fire and Rescue Service (ECFRS) decided in a meeting at Chelmsford County Hall earlier this month to remove the “important safety option,” because of its lack of use.

ECFRS chose in November 2016 to scrap one of the county’s five ALPs in their transformation and change programme.

Darrin Bill, assistant chief fire officer, said: “Current plans are to continue to locate four ALPs at Chelmsford, Colchester, Grays and Southend Fire Stations.”

“This model provides the best Essex-wide response cover.”

Mr Bill continued: “ALPs are a specialised appliance, and this means they attend relatively few calls.

“They only currently respond when requested by the officer-in-charge.”

Provide

“But they do provide an important option for our officers, particularly to be used as a water tower or as a safe working platform for rescues from height.”

“Our performance data shows that all five ALPs have attended 33 incidents so far in 2017.

“As the ALP based at Harlow Fire Station averages only one call per month, this ALP will be removed.”

ALPs are attached to a fire engine and can be used by firefighters to fight or observe flames from a high level.

They are commonly used to treat high level fires and one was used during the Grenfell Tower blaze.

The move by ECFRS has started an online appeal to give high rise residents advice in the event of a fire.

The decision means the nearest ALP will be in Chelmsford.

Harlow councillor Mike Danvers expressed his concern when ECFRS raised the possibility last year.

He said: “It is like house insurance, you do not stop it because you have not needed it. It is a particular safeguard for people living in tower blocks.”

Mr Danvers was one of two (then) Labour county councillors who opposed the motion at the time.

Speaking after the decision was made Mr Danvers added: “To have the nearest ladder at Chelmsford is scandalous when Harlow has so many tower blocks unlike most other towns in Essex. They retain their ladder platform for 5evenings during the week!”

Ex-midwife is struck off by council after she admitted charges of theft and fraud

A FORMER midwife at Lister Hospital has been struck off after she pleaded guilty to theft and fraud charges late last year.

Samantha Louise Barratt, 30, of Fold Croft in Harlow when she was convicted, was struck off by the Nursing and Midwifery Council (NMC) last month after she pleaded guilty to charges at Stevenage Magistrates Court in November 2016.

She had been facing a single charge of theft and multiple charges of fraud, committed between June and July in 2016.

Committing

Barratt was accused of committing fraud to book holidays to Florida, and buy women’s clothes.

A spokesman for the East and North NHS Trust, which operates Lister Hospital, said: she had referred Barratt to the police and had dismissed her from the trust.

In a statement they said: “This case dates back to May 2014, when the Trust referred Ms Barratt to Hertfordshire police and the Nursing and Midwifery Council (NMC) over a case of alleged theft. Ms Barratt was suspended immediately and following the trust’s own investigation, she was dismissed from the trust.

“The trust expects high standards of professionalism and personal conduct from all its staff and notes the decision made by the NMC last week following its own hearing to strike Ms Barratt from its register.”

The NMC report stated: “The panel was very concerned about the level of pre-mediated dishonesty that Ms Barratt engaged in, harming both patients and her colleagues with her deceit.

“The panel considered the evidence from Ms Barratt and noted the complete absence of any real remorse towards her profession, her patients, or her colleagues; or any efforts towards remedying her deficiencies.”

Suspension

The NMC gave Barratt a striking off order and a interim suspension order for 18 months.

The report stated: “The panel was of the view that Ms Barratt’s actions fell significantly short of the standards expected of a registered nurse, and that her actions amounted to numerous breaches of the code.”

Barratt was given a four month suspended prison sentence, suspended for 18 months, and was forced to pay a victim surcharge of £80 and costs of £85 at Stevenage Magistrates Court on November 23, 2016.

Bus service will help Spurs fans get to matches

SPURS fans from around Broxbourne, East Herts and Harlow can get quick and cheap transport directly to Wembley Stadium for every game this season.

With Tottenham Hotspur’s new stadium under construction, Spurs will play all home games at Wembley meaning fans from Herts face a commute lasting as long as the match itself.

But a new coach service, Zeelo, is launching to take fans directly to Wembley from just £1 each way.

Barney Williams, Zeelo co-founder, said: “With the move to Wembley, Spurs fans will have to get long, indirect trains and tubes across London or drive and pay expensive car park charges at all of the matches.

“We want to make travel to games as quick and painless as possible so fans have more time to enjoy the match and not worry about parking and queues.”

Zeelo uses data to pop up coach routes that can cut travel times by 30 per cent and still keep fares low, while all services include WiFi, air-con and luxury seating.

The services will run from Hoddesdon, Broxbourne, Cheshunt, Bishop’s Stortford, Harfield, Welwyn Garden City and Stevenage Mountfitchet and Harlow.

There will also be the option to buy tickets on an ad hoc basis for fans travelling to a few games per season and discounted rates for all Champions League, FA Cup and League Cup games.

Once again, town turns into capital of sculpture

Art trail will return this weekend

By Huw Wales

HARLOW’S town centre will once again be transformed into a treasure trove of artwork as a popular sculpture trail returns.

The Harlow Art and Sculpture Trail, which first took place in 2014, will showcase work from local artists on streets and in the windows of shops and businesses between this Saturday and July 22.

The trail, which is part of the Essex Summer of Art, was organised by the Harvey Centre, Gatehouse Arts, and the Gibberd Gallery.

The town was named the world’s first sculpture town in 2010 because it was home to such a high number of nationally important sculptures and their creators.

Anniversary

There are 20 venues taking part in this year’s event as the town celebrates the 70th anniversary since it was designated as a new town.

As part of these celebrations there will be exclusive exhibitions taking place during the trail.

Bryan Young, centre manager at the Harvey Centre, said: “We are delighted to be taking part in the Art and Sculpture Trail again this year.

“It is a great way to give local artists a platform, showcase the range of sculptures in the town and highlight the thriving creative scene in Harlow.”

Sculptures on the trail include Henry Moore’s Family Group, which looks out of the foyer of the Civic Centre, and Dame Elizabeth Frink’s “Boar” in the Water Gardens.

To visit all of the artworks and sculptures, pick up a free map of their location from the Harvey Centre, the Harlow Library, Harlow Playhouse, and other businesses in Bird Cage Walk.

In some businesses there will be a chance to buy some of the artwork on display.

‘Sorry our machines still reject the new £1’

THE Water Gardens in Harlow has apologised after complaints that only one of its car park machines accepts the new £1 coins.

Shoppers driving to the popular shopping centre are finding it increasingly difficult to pay, with just one meter accepting the new-style tender that came into use in March.

With the cheapest parking ticket costing 90p, paying with coins can be problematic, with older-style pound coins now rarer.

In addition, it is claimed the card function does not work on any meters.

“Why do the parking machines in The Water Gardens still not accept this coin at a point when the old coins are becoming rather scarce?”

“Not least because no machines accept payment cards or cardless payment.”

Phased out

The old-style £1 coin will be phased out in October.

Mr Dodd added: “If they want people to use the shopping centre they need to get this sorted quickly as they only have until midnight on October 15 when the old coin ceases to be legal tender.

“I simply do not want to carry around pockets full of coins when most public parking today offer app or cardless payment facilities.”

A spokesman from the shopping centre said work was being done to update the remaining machines.

He said: “The Water Gardens car park has one machine that accepts the new £1 coins.

“This is located on the upper car park outside the Asda store.

“We are working with our partners to update the remaining machines.

“This will be complete by mid-July and we apologise for any inconvenience this may cause our customers.”

Little ones get ready for exciting next steps

Youngsters are waving goodbye to a Harlow nursery as they prepare to move onto primary school. In readiness Kiddi Caru, Kilm Lane, Harlow, invited a primary school teacher to speak to children aged five and under who attend the centre. The nursery has also introduced children to the idea of school uniform and group sessions.

How to help terminally ill patients

Princess Alexandra Hospital welcomed senior NHS professor Brian Dolan as part of their #last1000days campaign.

Staff at the infirmary in Hamstel Road, Harlow, heard his ambition to help those with terminal and life limiting conditions to enjoy their last 1,000 days. They also discussed Red2Green, an improvement drive, and #endPJparalysis, which is a campaign to get patients up and out of their pyjamas as soon as they’re able to.

A growing workforce

Metal finishing business Robert Stuart Ltd has reopened after a £2 million expansion.

Town MP Robert Halfon visited the centre in Edinburgh Way, Harlow, which has seen its workforce grow from 80 to 100.

Mr Halfon said: “It was an honour to cut the ribbon to open Robert Stuart’s new expansion this afternoon. “They are a fantastic local business who are investing in our town and bringing jobs and apprenticeships back to Harlow.”

Fashion, design and art students at the centre in Velizy Avenue, Harlow, showed off their creations at the event last week. Julia Fuller, head of menswear at high street shop Debenhams, was in attendance at the show which was well received and attended.

The Science & Technology category is attracting a great deal of interest

'Our county is a...
Longside this year’s headline sponsors, a great line-up of category sponsors is forming for the annual Essex Business Excellence Awards.

Businesses such as Choice Finance, James Hallam, Inspirational Magazine London and Jewson have thrown their weight behind one of the 13 categories set to be celebrated on the night of Wednesday, November 29.

Joining the list is Rickard Luckin, which has recently been confirmed as the category sponsor for the Business Entrepreneur of the Year award.

Rickard Luckin is a firm of chartered accountants and tax advisers with offices in Chelmsford, Basildon and Southend, working with individuals and businesses.

With the awards always highly anticipated and enjoyed by many, the support of these local businesses ensures another incredible year of the awards.

Peter Leonard, director at Rickard Luckin said: “The awards are a great way for local businesses to show their commitment to the local economy, supporting our community in the process.

“There is a great deal of focus on London, where local companies are clamouring to generate work and where people feel that wages are higher and opportunities more plentiful.

Recognition

“However, Essex is a fantastic place to be in business, and for those businesses that are selected as finalists and award winners, the recognition of their hard work and support to the county is vital in encouraging more businesses within the area to support and develop the local community.”

Once nominations for the business awards close on August 25, Peter will collate a judging panel formed of members of Rickard Luckin and whittle the applications down to just three finalists.

Throughout this process they will be looking at the individual achievements of the entrepreneurs.

Explaining their association with this particular award, Peter said: “We chose this category because small businesses are often quoted as the ‘life-blood’ of the country.”

“We need more entrepreneurs to start and develop these vital businesses to ensure that the economy can grow.

“Many people start businesses every day. For example, last year just over 600,000 companies were incorporated, with 74,000 of them in East Anglia.

“We are keen to recognise those business leaders with the entrepreneurial spark to develop and grow their ventures to become the large and successful companies of tomorrow.”

With Rickard Luckin firmly established in the county, Peter was perfectly placed to share the reasons he believes Essex is a great place for businesses to flourish. “Essex is close enough to London for local firms to win work from their competition within the capital, whilst still enjoying an independently thriving business economy. With two international airports, the new port, and easy access to the rest of the country as well as Europe, it is clear that Essex provides a superb infrastructure for business growth. The diverse range of Essex-based businesses, from multinational companies such as Ford, Costa, the Stobart Group and DP World, right through to the thousands of start-up companies, means that the opportunities within the county are perfect for developing and growing businesses.”

Bright

In 2016 Rickard Luckin was formed from the merging of two chartered accountants, Rickard Keen and Bird Luckin, and the future is looking bright.

Detailing what he expects to be on the horizon for the company over the next 12 months, Peter said: “We will be continuing to develop a strong team.

“We were proud to have recently received an award ourselves, for ‘Training Firm of the Year’ by the South Essex Society of Chartered Accountants, and we have already recruited four students to begin our September training programme.

“In addition, growth is a key driver for our business and we are looking to increase our client base, so that we can support even more businesses across the county. We are interested in opportunities to bring people into the business and are looking to collaborate with other like-minded firms.”

SPIDER-MAN: HOMECOMING (12A) ★★★★★

On Watts’ slick reboot of the Marvel Comics superhero – the third iteration in 15 years – spins an impressive web of rite-of-passage drama, buddy comedy and bombastic spectacle.

There’s a goofy, youthful vibe to this incarnation of Peter Parker, played by British actor Tom Holland, who was 26 when he slipped on the spider suit, Andrew Garfield was 27.

Holland sparks a terrific chemistry as a socially awkward high school student than his big screen predecessors – Tobey Maguire was 22 when he stepped out of the spider suit, Andrew Garfield was 27.

Best friend Ned (Batalon) is sworn to secrecy, joining Peter in their school’s Academic Decathlon team alongside Peter’s crush Liz (Laura Harrier), sardonic loner Michelle (Zendaya) and bullying rich kid Flash Thompson (Tony Revolori).

The pupils have a brush with death in Washington DC at the hands of salvage company owner Adrian Toomes (Michael Keaton), who has been robbed of his livelihood by Stark’s offshoot, the Department of Damage Control (DODC), and has taken flight as a larcenous winged menace called Vulture. Youthful impetuosity overrides common sense as Peter tries to prove himself to the Avengers by tackling the airborne madman alone.

In a demonstration of tough love, billionaire inventor Stark punishes Peter by compelling the lad’s hi-tech suit laden with neat gimmicks.

If you’re nothing without the suit, you shouldn’t have it,” he wisely observes.

Spider-Man: Homecoming isn’t king of the slingers – Sam Raimi’s 2004 sequel Sider-Man 2 retains that web-spin crown – but director Watts’ opening salvo isn’t far behind.

Action sequences are executed with verve, without swamping the screen in digital trickery, and the most dramatic interludes are underscored with snarky humour.

The script pulls off two impressive sleights of hand, one of which is a bona fide jaw-dropper, without sacrificing Parker and his growing pains as the emotional heartbeat.

Creator Stan Lee makes his obligatory cameo and there is a couple of additional scenes secreted in the end credits.

One teens up a venomous new adversary for a sequel in summer 2019, the second delivers a comedic flourish that rewards the virtuous.
Let’s celebrate Britain’s heroes

Carol Vorderman launches this year’s Pride Of Britain Awards, and tells MARION McMULLEN why we all need heroes in our lives

FAMOUS guests such as Sir Paul McCartney, Tony Blair, the Spice Girls, Cilla Black and Queen Noor of Jordan packed into the Dorchester Hotel for the first Daily Mirror Pride Of Britain Awards, but Carol Vorderman says the real stars of the night were the unsung heroes.

“I always knew it was going to be special,” Carol says of the memorable awards night back in 1999.

“It was amazing. Peter Willis, who is now Daily Mirror editor, was responsible for it and put it all together and it was done very quickly in five or six weeks.

“They asked me to host it. I was doing everything back then and presenting corporate events three times a week. I was practically living at places like the Dorchester Hotel and Grosvenor House.

“I was also doing a two page feature for the Daily Mirror and it was all about introducing people to this new thing called the internet. Everyone used Yahoo then and I was the first to talk about this new search engine called Google. I remember I even tried to buy shares in it, but was told it was a private company and they were not selling them.

Carol says it was clear from the start that the Mirror Pride Of Britain awards, which are in partnership with TSB this year, were unique.

“Piers Morgan was at the Mirror then and wanted as many celebrities in the room as possible,” she recalls.

“There can be a lot of back-slapping at these types of events, but people sensed something special was happening and could see it becoming what it now is.

“Only about a third of the people at the event were award nominees, but their stories turned everyone silent. It was just... well... different.”

It was Carol who convinced ITV to film the awards and she says they all met at Piers Morgan’s office at Canary Wharf to sort out everything. “It just stuck a chord with everyone,” she remembers. “It was an emotional thing. The stories of these amazing people still gives me hope. They are remarkable.”

Since the first Pride of Britain, royalty, prime ministers, and hundreds of leading figures from showbusiness, sport, politics and the arts have all taken part and Carol has hosted every event.

Her 88-year-old mother Jean, who sadly passed away recently, was by Carol’s side at every major moment of her life and even forged her signature on the application for Countdown, which launched her daughter on the road to fame.

Jean was always proud of her daughter’s role hosting Pride of Britain and Carol will be back celebrating more unsung heroes later this year.

“Two of my best friends were Pride Of Britain winners,” says Carol fondly. “Astronaut Piers Sellers, who passed away last year, and Pepe Hart.

She won the best teacher of the year award in 2008 and is one of the loudest people I have ever met. I love her to bits. She is genuinely one of my best friends and was my Mum’s friend as well and would take her to hospital visits. She’s a very positive person and when I met her I thought ‘That’s what you want in your life.’ ”

Nominations are now open for this year’s awards and Carol launched the search for the nation’s unsung heroes with an appearance on Good Morning Britain alongside Rhea Khan, who was named Good Morning Britain’s Young Fundraiser Of The Year at the awards last year.

Carol also waved off a Mini-driving team on a 1,000 mile road trip around the UK in a bid to seek out the most inspirational stories they can find.

This year has already seen tragic events in Manchester, Westminster and London Bridge and the Grenfell Tower fire, but there have also been stories of incredible spirit and courage, especially among the emergency services.

“It is inspiring to hear the stories,” says 56-year-old Carol. “Stephen Sutton (the teenage cancer patient who raised millions for the Teenage Cancer Trust before his death in 2014) won a posthumous award and his story deeply moved people.

“IT does not matter, though, if you raise a few thousand pounds or millions. It’s all about the person.

“I have learned that winners share two things – an incredible, selfless desire to help others, and unbelievable modesty about what they have done.

“This is why we need you to tell us about your unsung heroes and nominate them so they get the recognition they deserve. It takes just five minutes and we want to hear about these people who do extraordinary things but don’t realise how extraordinary they are. We are to find them and tell their amazing stories.”

THE Mirror’s Pride Of Britain Awards, in partnership with TSB, is back for the 19th year to honour the nation’s unsung heroes and recognise the amazing achievements of ordinary people.

Nominations are now open and the search is on. It may be for a single act of incredible courage, a long-lasting battle against the odds or for inspirational campaigning.

They could be six or 106 – heroism has no age barrier.

And they could have changed one life or changed the world.

Winners will be chosen by the Pride Of Britain judging panel from a shortlist drawn up from the nominations received.

The Pride Of Britain Awards ceremony will be held at Grosvenor House in London in October.

Nominations can be made online at prideofbritain.com/nominate or you can pick up a form at your local TSB branch.

Categories include Outstanding Bravery, Child/ Teenager of Courage, Lifetime Achievement, ITV Fundraiser of the Year, Good Morning Britain Young Fundraiser of the Year, This Morning Emergency Services Award, Special Recognition and TSB Community Partner Award.

Nominations close on Friday, August 25.
It couldn’t Bee easier to improve your wellbeing

Sally Bee changed her life-style after suffering five heart attacks. MARION McMULLEN finds out why everyone from Michelle Obama to Lorraine Kelly are fans of her cooking and approach to health.

D OCTORS told Sally Bee’s family to say goodbye when a rare heart condition caused her to suffer three heart attacks in a single week.

She was 36, and medical staff warned that it was impossible for her to live with the devastating damage her heart had sustained. But Sally survived and continued to thrive until 12 years later she suffered another two heart attacks.

Yet again, her lifestyle, food, thought and movement helped her survive and recover.

Today, she continues to glow with health and says her doctors are amazed by her resilience and believe that her lifestyle is keeping her alive.

The best-selling author and motivational TV chef passes on her life-saving information to others in her new book, Beelicious.

Former First Lady Michelle Obama is one of Sally’s biggest fans and bought six copies of her earlier book The Secret Ingredient for gift-giving purposes. The book was launched on Lorraine Kelly’s ITV daytime show.

Lorraine says: “Sally is living proof that her approach to health and wellbeing really works.”

Beelicious offers fad-free seasonal recipes along with personal wellbeing journals and advice from Sally.

The mum-of-three says: “Each of us has the power to shape our future. By eating well, you can support your body and help it to function better and for longer.

“You can protect your body so if and when disaster strikes, you are better placed to survive and recover. It’s not just about food. It starts with food and includes being aware of your thoughts and attitude to life.

“We can all make big plans and reach for the stars, but that can only happen when you deal with the small steps every day and do the best you can.”

Beelicious - Your Journal To Wellness is published by A Way With Media Ltd, priced £20.

I MAKE an annual trip which I enjoy very much, akin to the old Wakes’ Weeks in Lancashire (my roots people, my roots) when once a year half the population would pack up and disappear to Blackpool and paddle and flirt.

My annual trip is a visit to the wine people at the Co-operative when they highlight some of their latest releases.

Here are two reds and two whites all under a tenner; other picks I’ll share now and again as this new fairtrade pinotage and shiraz blend. The Co-op is the world’s biggest Fairtrade wine retailer and sales of the wine will support investment into farming communities in the Western Cape.

What of the wine? Well I need a bit of persuasion with South African pinotage, but this blend is nice; the wine is ruby red, has ripe red fruits and strawberries on the nose, with pepper spice tingling away.

Muriel Tempranillo Rioja 2014 (£8.49, 13.5% abv) is a red I loved, with its sweet woody nose, tumbling cherry and strawberry aromas and a good balance of weight, fruit and acidity. It hums of sweet spice and vanilla and is a wine which is confident in itself. It would be proud to look in the mirror and say ‘Hey, I’m very elegant’. Look – I write these notes when I’m in the moment. Stick with me.

Vanilla Grillo 2016 (£6.99, 13% abv) was my favourite white wine – and also that of my guide, Ben Cahill. It hails from Sicily and has a tremendous rush of grapefruit and lemon and lime aromas. In the mouth there’s a thrill of citrus and acidity from start to finish – the wine has weight, it’s not a fly-by-night white which your taste buds will forget in an instant.

Vinho Verde 2016 (£5.99, 9.5% abv); This is a gentle spritzly little thing and as vinho verde goes, it is spritzier than most. These young wines from Portugal aren’t made as traditional fizzy wines, but the carbon dioxide created in the fermentation can still be present, causing a wobble of a bubble. I won’t bore you with geektiness but I’ll simply say I’d love to sip this gently sparkling fresh white wine in the garden and enjoy its pretty citrus summer vibe.

In other news... I should give a Wimbledon nod to strawberries and fizzy things. If it helps, Sainsbury’s tell me they commissioned a flavour expert to reveal the best drinks pairings for top strawberry varieties.

Professor Barry Smith used scientific methods to pair the flavour components of the different berries and sparkling wines and one of the most successful pairings he found was Sainsbury’s Taste the Difference Crémant de Loire (RRP £11) with the Murano strawberry. Now I don’t know one strawberry from the other but I can tell you that the crémant is indeed very nice with fizzy shimmers which pop with citrus together with a hint of creaminess.

It’s made in the same way as champagne, so that’s game set and match to your purse.

I MAKE an annual trip which I enjoy very much, akin to staying in a three-star standard hotel in the Midlands area:

- Coach travel from the local area
- Escorted by a friendly tour manager

Standard phone charges.

Here are two reds and two whites I’ll share now and again as I research what’s available to us and beat with an electric mixer until the cream reaches soft peak consistency. Decorate the top of the cake.

Chop the garlic and vanilla and is a wine that I’d love to sip this gently and simmer for 40 minutes. Meanwhile, to make the crunchy coleslaw, mix the cabbages, carrot and red onion.

5. Stir in the mayo, yoghurt, chopped parsley and chives and season with freshly ground black pepper. Set aside.

6. After 40 minutes of cooking, lift the chicken out of the pan and using a stick blender, whizz up the sauce until smooth.

7. Simmer uncovered for a further 10 minutes until nicely thickened.

8. Fill the warmed tortillas with the chicken and coleslaw, wrap up and enjoy.

METHOD

1. Pre-heat the oven to 220°C/fan 200°C/gas 7 and line a baking tray with greaseproof paper.

2. Mix the lemon zest with the chopped parsley and olive oil and season well with black pepper. Dip each piece of fish in the herby oil.

3. Wrap a slice of pancetta around each piece of fish and place them on the prepared baking tray.

4. Bake for 10–12 minutes, or until the fish has turned opaque and is cooked through.

5. Meanwhile, pop the sliced carrots and broccoli florets in a large lidded saucepan. Add half a cup of boiling water, just so that it sits at the bottom of the pan but doesn’t cover all the vegetables. Also add the knob of butter, the grated garlic and a pinch of sea salt and black pepper.

6. Combine well, put the lid on and steam/boil for eight minutes, checking halfway through that there is still water in the bottom of the pan.

7. Drain the vegetables, and divide between four plates and serve each plate topped with two pancetta-wrapped fish pieces.

FOOD & DRINK

INGREDIENTS

- 1tbsp extra virgin olive oil
- 1 onion, diced
- 2 garlic cloves, crushed
- 1tbsp chipotle paste
- 1tbsp tomato purée
- 1tbsp red wine vinegar
- 1tbsp smoked paprika
- 1tbsp honey
- 4 skinless chicken breast portions
- Hot, low salt chicken stock

For the crunchy coleslaw:

- ¼ small white cabbage, sliced
- ½ small red cabbage, sliced
- 2 carrots, shredded
- 1 red onion, finely sliced

To serve:

- 4 corn tortillas, warmed

METHOD

1. Using a large non-stick, lidded saucepan, heat the olive oil and fry the onion and garlic for five minutes until soft.

2. Stir in the chipotle paste and tomato purée, red wine vinegar, honey and smoked paprika.

3. Add the chicken breasts and pour in enough chicken stock to just cover everything. Pop the lid on and simmer for 40 minutes.

4. Meanwhile, to make the crunchy coleslaw, mix the cabbages, carrot and red onion.

5. Stir in the mayonnaise, yoghurt, chopped parsley and chives and season with freshly ground black pepper. Set aside.

6. After 40 minutes of cooking, lift the chicken out of the pan and using a stick blender, whizz up the sauce until smooth.

7. Simmer uncovered for a further 10 minutes until nicely thickened.

8. Fill the warmed tortillas with the chicken and coleslaw, wrap up and enjoy.

INGREDIENTS

- Grated zest of 1 lemon
- A handful of fresh parsley, chopped
- 4tbsp extra virgin olive oil
- Freshly ground black pepper, to taste
- 600g fresh cod fillets, skinned, cut into eight pieces
- 8 slices of pancetta

For the vegetables:

- 600g broccoli, cut into florets
- 3 carrots, peeled and sliced
- 1 clove garlic, grated
- Knob of butter
- Pinch of sea salt
- Freshly ground black pepper

METHOD

1. Pre-heat the oven to 220°C/fan 200°C/gas 7 and line a baking tray with greaseproof paper.

2. Mix the lemon zest with the chopped parsley and olive oil and season well with black pepper. Dip each piece of fish in the herby oil.

3. Wrap a slice of pancetta around each piece of fish and place them on the prepared baking tray.

4. Bake for 10–12 minutes, or until the fish has turned opaque and is cooked through.

5. Meanwhile, pop the sliced carrots and broccoli florets in a large lidded saucepan. Add half a cup of boiling water, just so that it sits at the bottom of the pan but doesn’t cover all the vegetables. Also add the knob of butter, the grated garlic and a pinch of sea salt and black pepper.

6. Combine well, put the lid on and steam/boil for eight minutes, checking halfway through that there is still water in the bottom of the pan.

7. Drain the vegetables, and divide between four plates and serve each plate topped with two pancetta-wrapped fish pieces.
Slick chic and sleek

ROM the catwalks to the red carpet, slicked back hair has been EVERYWHERE this season. And no wonder – the sleek style is equal parts edgy and polished, and because the rest of your hair is down it’s much easier to achieve than a complicated updo. At the SS17 shows, hair stylists went down two routes. There was the perfectly pruned and smoothed look, as seen at Balmain, Carolina Herrera and Marchesa, or the artfully messy wet-look vibe seen at Markus Lupfer. Can’t decide which to try? We got the lowdown from the experts on how to create both...

SLEEK AND SHINY
SAM MCKNIGHT created this smooth, straight look at the Balmain SS17 show.

GET THE LOOK:
1. Lightly spray the hair with texture spray to prep, and apply a mousse to the roots for hold.
2. Create a sharp parting on the left side of the head to the crown with a pin tail comb.
3. Straighten the hair using a straightening iron, then apply gel on both sides and on top of the head and comb through.
4. Using a flat bristle brush, smooth the lengths, brushing from the top of the head, to seal in flyaways.
5. Finish with a moisturising cream for a sleek, wet look and set in place with a strong holding hair spray.

PRODUCTS:
- HAIR by Sam McKnight Easy-Up Do Texture Spray, £25, and Hair by Sam McKnight Modern Hairspray, £22, Liberty (libertylondon.com).

WET AND WILD
EMBRACING a natural, unpolished feel, the slicked back hair created by Bumble and Bumble at Markus Lupfer SS17 was effortlessly cool.

GET THE LOOK:
1. Wet the hair thoroughly with primer from root to tip.
2. Apply styling cream heavily on the roots, all the way down to the ends. Create a slick, heavy side parting and use a diffuser to blow-dry the hair.
3. Pull the hair back into a low quiff while keeping the side parting deep and defined. Ensure the hair is slick with product on the sides and slightly lifted on top.
4. Wet the hair down further with gel and finish with a spray of hair spray.

PRODUCTS:
- BB Hairdresser’s Invisible Oil Heat/UV Protective Primer, £20.50, and BB Don’t Blow It Hair Styler, £23 (lookfantastic.com).
- BB Curl Anti-Humidity Gel-Oil, £25, and BB Citysweep Finish, £23, Space NK (space nk.com).

BEAUTY BUZZ
- IF you’ve not already tried them, tinted lip oil formulas are an upgrade on your average gloss. They’re part colour, part skincare for your lips.
- Rimmel’s Oh My Gloss! Oil Tints, £5.99 each, come in five sheer juicy shades and contain coconut and pomegranate oils to ensure your lips look and feel smooth. Find them at Boots and Superdrug.
- MARK July 8 in the diary, beauty fans, because it’s the launch of Elemis’ latest: Today’s Special Value buy on QVC. For one day only get Elemis’ 6-Piece Day to Night Luminous Skin Collection – worth £173 for less than £60.
- It features Elemis’ new Peptide-4 Night Recovery Cream-Oil (30ml) as well as a host of other skin and bodycare goodies including hero products Pro-Collagen Marine Cream (30ml) or Pro-Collagen Marine Cream Ultra-Rich (30ml) and beauty editors’ favourite, Pro-Collagen Cleansing Balm (105g). Remember you can only get this for one day from 00:01 on Sunday July 8 and while stocks last. Tune into QVC or go to qvc.com.
- PLENTY of face creams protect against the actual sun and the UVAs and UVBs but Murad’s City Skin Age Defence, £45, combines SPF50 with protection against pollution and blue light. Talk about a multi-tasker! At murad.co.uk.

This luxurious four-bedroom house is on the market in Church Langley.

PAGES 26-27
Estate agency Reyland Johnson has selected the Ashworth Place house as their property of the week, a delightful Church Langley house on the market for £600,000.

A luxurious four-bedroom house is on the market in Church Langley, Harlow. Estate agency Reyland Johnson has selected the Ashworth Place house as their property of the week and it is on sale now for £599,995.

In addition to the four spacious and nicely decorated bedrooms there are also three reception rooms, an en-suite bathroom, study and a double garage.

A Reyland Johnson spokesman said: “Of the many popular locations in Church Langley, Ashworth Place, is regarded as one of the best and this superb detached family property offers everything you would wish for.”

Another plus is the garden area, which includes a patio and summer house.

The house is within walking distance of a Tesco superstore and Harlow town centre is a short drive with Old Harlow High Street and Edinburgh Way shops closer still.

For commuters the house is well located near Harlow Mill railway station and around two miles from Harlow Town station, which has faster connections to London.

To view the property or request more information call Reyland Johnson on 01279 949094.

Alternatively one can visit their office at 1 Acorn Mews, Harlow.
An opportunity has appeared to buy a picturesque village house near Bishop's Stortford thanks to Wright and Co. Parkside is a five or six bedroom house located on the outskirts of Little Hallingbury with approximately 11 acres of land to go with the home.

Visitors to the house make their way up to the house via a gated entrance and up a lane lined with beautiful trees.

The house is only three miles away from Bishop’s Stortford with every service that a family might need.

This dream home only comes with a price tag of £1,485,000, despite its large grounds, beautiful setting and within easy striking distance of the M11, Stansted Airport and Bishop’s Stortford train station.

Nearly every room imaginable fits into this property with it boasting a drawing room, dining room, study and a Clive Christian kitchen and breakfast room.

It also have five bedrooms, with all but one of the rooms having an en-suite bathroom.

There is a possible sixth bedroom depending on the six of the family that will be moving into the house, but could also act as a storage room for the residents.

While the house on its own is worth the price tag, the grounds and other facilities make the property even better.

The house sits in the middle of 11 acres of beautiful grounds with seven acres of fields, two acres of paddocks within the remaining land being a formal garden. There is a patio, outside lighting, speakers and security as well as a triple garage block for the homeowner’s vehicles.

The local area also has excellent schools, both primary and secondary, as well as other community buildings like churches and pubs.

Head into the blue...

Set sail for summer with fresh schemes inspired by stark skies and seaside settings. GABRIELLE FAGAN sources the season’s key looks

You can’t beat the blues – instead you should embrace them this year, as they’re taking the interiors world by storm. Be inspired by three settings – coastal, Moroccan, and ocean style – featuring bright blue sky shades through to dramatic deep indigo and moody sea greens. Choose a theme, and create the look with our top finds...

CLASSIC COASTAL

“This year, there’s a big focus on blues of all shades, and there’s no easier way to use them than by creating coastal style,” says Alex Whitecroft, head of design at I Want Wallpaper.

“Its enduring popularity is unsurprising, because it’s timeless, informal and so easy to live with.

“It’s all about recreating that peaceful, contented feeling that comes from a trip to the coast, within the home.

“Texture can play a key part and realistic faux-effect driftwood, wood beam or pebble-effect wallpapers are perfect for a beach hut backdrop.

“Choose from a palette of cool blues and sandy neutrals to evoke hazy summer days by the sea, and build on the look with natural materials and furniture – distressed or weathered pieces will give a ‘lived in’ feel.

“Another fun way of introducing this style is by using wallpaper and accessories with nautical motifs, such as shells, anchors, lighthouses or vintage maps.”

MOROCCAN MAGIC

“Moroccan style can be incredibly versatile,” says Sarah Quilliam, head of product design at curtain and blinds specialists, Hillarys.

“The current trend for all things geometric inspired by ikat and batik designs, combined with the classic pairing of intensely hued blue and white, is Moroccan style made easy.

“It draws on a melting pot of influences. From a bohemian eclectic vibe that mixes rich Moorish colours with layers of vibrant pattern, through to calm minimalism, which blends a palette of cool white with accents of polished silver and bleached wood.

“It’s not about going overboard. Instead, keep the backdrop simple with whitewashed walls and floorboards for an authentic, summery feel.

“Bring in patterned textiles in bold

Arabesque Cobalt wallpaper, £195 per roll; Lino Modules sofa upholstered in Reticello Cobalt fabric, £4,845; Arabesque Cobalt wallpaper, £195 per roll; Lino Modules sofa upholstered in Reticello Cobalt fabric, £4,845; cushions (left to right) Cellini Cobalt cushion, £300; Indalo Sky cushion, £72; Brena Lino Marine cushion, £60, and Murrine Delft cushion, £56, all from Designer’s Guild (designersguild.com).”

indigo blue and white, such as curtains or rugs, to give a space an instant lift, and accessorise with lanterns, tray tables, and floor cushions for an Eastern feel.”

CATCH THE WAVE

“For a gentle, tranquil interpretation of shore style, replicate the colours of the ocean with its harmonious ever-changing blend of blue, green and teal shades,” suggests Rebecca Snowden, interior style advisor, Furniture Choice.

“This palette will work well with natural materials – grained woods and stone – and can be dressed up or down to suit the mood.

“This look is a world away from the cheery beach-hut style, and more akin to a sanctuary on a far-flung shore.

“Layer pale, misty shades of blue, green and grey to give a tonal effect, and avoid anything too arresting, which will jolt the eye. Soft, floaty fabrics – so characteristic of sun-baked and sun-drenched settings – would also work well.

“Dress a bed with linen and cotton throws and accessorise with glass and ceramics in blues and greens, and beachcomber items such as shells and driftwood.”

Stratus IV large chaise end sofa in Belgian twill navy, £1,699; Woven chevron cushion, £20; Scarf print cushion, £14; Pebble stack table lamp, £70; Batik effect wool rug, from £95; Clarendon four-light wool chandelier, £190; Horizon sideboard, £375, and Horizon oval square mirror, £175, all available from Next (next.co.uk).

HOMETO A REAL ROCKEFELLER

For most people in the UK the legacy of the Rockefeller banking dynasty boils down to one thing – a shorthand for spending lavishly. Buy a bling pair of shoes or a flash car and your friends are likely to shout 'oi, Rockefeller' at you.

The family, which rose to prominence 140 years ago in the US, made its money from banking, oil and more recently investments in Apple computers. The Rockefellers have been for many decades, and still are, one of the most influential dynasties in the US, pouring billions into philanthropic pursuits including medicine, education and the arts. In March this year John D Rockefeller Junior, the last surviving offspring of the family's founding father John D Rockefeller, died aged 101 leaving a fortune worth some £3bn.

In his time, he had been chairman and CEO of Chase Manhattan bank, owned huge hunks of US real estate and left an art collection that would put most national galleries to shame. It is estimated that John D, together with his wife Peggy, gave away some $900m during their lifetimes.

Their five children inherited millions via family trusts and were given the chance to get first dibs on many of the couple's properties, if they paid a fair market value.

It might not look like much of a rock star property from the outside – and it is certainly not a patch on the notorious Supernova Wings mansion that brother Noel and the Primrose Hill set raised hell at during the late Nineties, but this white cottage was where Liam Gallagher called home for four years.

He owned the property from 2006-10, while he was married to All Saints singer Nicole Appleton before selling it to the current owners in 2014 following his and Nicole’s split.

On the market for £1.65m, the two-bedroom property has a kitchen/diner, open-plan lounge, study, and a small patio at the back. There are wooden floors, white-washed walls and a fire place. Speaking to the Evening Standard magazine earlier this year, the former Oasis frontman bemoaned how he would be mobbed by fans every time he was trying to leave the property.

He recalled: “I’d open the door and get mithered to death straight away.”

The 44-year-old, who has won praise of late for his performances at the One Love Manchester charity concert and his set at Glastonbury, and will release his debut solo album in October, now lives in a London penthouse with his girlfriend Debbie Gwyther, who is also his manager and publicist.

Late June is a wonderful time of the gardening year – my home plot is full of flowers and lush green growth. However, among the spectacular displays, there’s still work to be done.

Inspecting my borders the other evening I came across foliage which was twisted, blistered and deformed. I turned over a couple of affected leaves and found the culprits – an extended family of aphids had moved in.

Aphids come in a number of shades. There is the classic greenfly, there are creamy-yellow coloured aphids, pink ones (which are quite pretty to look at), black ones, even wooly ones, to name but a few.

They all reproduce prolifically and if you neglect to notice the beginnings of a colony they may have produced a number of generations before you spot the damage. Plants commonly affected by them generally have a lot of soft green growth. At this time of the year aphids will be emerging and multiplying in huge numbers on lime trees. Aphids exude a sugary, sap-like excretion which will make the ground sticky and discoloured underneath. If there are plants underneath they tend to get a sooty mould growing on the honeydew. But many other plants can also be affected. Recently I noticed a Choisya ternata that had blackening leaves which appeared to be dying.

Choisyas are normally robust shrubs but this was covered in a sooty mould and the honeydew was coming from aphids on an overhanging lime tree.

Aphids not only distort and stunt young growth and cause secondary problems such as sooty mould – they can also also be a disease carrier as they move from one plant to another. Because they are sap-sucking insects they can carry viruses or bacteria to the next plant.

It is very tempting to pop into a garden centre or hardware shop, buy a chemical insecticide and spray them into oblivion. But insecticides should really be avoided as they will often kill other beneficial insects, including those which eat aphids.

If you wish to spray aphids, just use a liquid made up of soft soap and warm water. It will clog their spiracles (through which they breathe) and kill them.

You will need to wash the soapy residue off the plants afterwards. An alternative is to buy a biological control, such as ladybirds or lacewings, and release them into your garden. Their larvae are voracious eaters of aphids. This doesn’t mean you should watch and wait while your plants are destroyed either. Get a hose out and spray the aphids off the plant. Many of them won’t survive the blasting and those that do will hopefully be eaten.

If there aren’t so many, you can pick or rub them off the leaves with your fingers.

I had a blackcurrant bush years ago which was badly affected. I picked the worst leaves off the plant and destroyed them and sprayed the remaining leaves with the hose whenever I was out watering. The leaves improved hugely.

With any pest or disease problem, vigilance is very important – especially with aphids. You can also place sacrificial plants in the garden near your precious ones to lure aphids away. For example, grow Calendula officinalis (pot marigolds) under apple trees and plums as they will draw away any blackfly.

Pot marigolds serve a dual purpose as they attract hoverflies, whose larvae also feed on aphids. French marigolds (Tagetes patula) and the poached egg plant (Limnanthes douglasii) also attract hoverflies and make great companion plants for your endangered specimens.

Another good decoy is Tropaeolum majus, commonly called nasturtiums.

The joy of hitting the natural balance is that although you may see a couple of blackfly or greenfly colonies on your nasturtiums, you can also watch hoverfly larvae devour the greenfly on your roses, or delight in your kids counting the spots on the ladybirds and see the light catching the delicate green wings of the lacewings.

Birds eat aphids too, so extend a big welcome to our feathered friends!
APLANT OF THE WEEK

ASILBE

WHICH beauty likes to hang around in the shadows but makes sure she get lots of attention in the summer when she dons a bright feathery boa?

Aстilbe - and what a great plant this is for semi-shade. It has attractive, finely-cut or serrated foliage and then these wonderful plumes of flowers in red, pink, purple or white in summertime. It’s happy in sunshine as long as the soil doesn’t dry out. Its key requirement is damp, poorly-drained soil – a boggy or poolside situation is ideal.

ASK DIARMUID

Q I HAVE a problem with moss growing on the branches of my gooseberry bushes. I have cut branches from the centre, but the moss is still growing. Do you know what I can do to cure the problem?

A Ray Allford

Hi Ray. The pruning you did was the best course of action, allowing light and air circulation in. Moss needs moisture to grow, so I’m wondering, is the soil a bit damp? Sometimes lichen grows on the bark and that is harmless, but I would remove any moss by hand. You could use a product such as MossOff, which is completely organic and suffocates the moss with a layer of starch and won’t harm anything else. You might consider moving the plant to a place where drainage is less of a problem.

SKODA’S NEW SUV

NEW MODEL

Skoda Karoq

By David Ward

Despite its rather boxy-shaped body and at times somewhat quirky interior Skoda’s small family Sports Utility Vehicle, the Yeti, has become a firm favourite with buyers in the UK since it first appeared back in 2009.

A subsequent 2013 facelift further enhanced its appeal and in its own comparatively small way the Yeti has perhaps in an unfashionably manner been a significant sales winner for the Czech car maker here and in mainland Europe.

But all that is about to change come this autumn when an all new (in every sense of the word) successor arrives and the Yeti name will be no more, which will undoubtedly disappoint some regular Skoda fans.

It’s called the Karoq which Skoda bosses are confident will even further increase their presence in the small family SUV sector, one of the currently fastest segment of the new car market.

But when deliveries from dealer showrooms start here next January this five-adult seater Karoq will be up against some formidable opposition, noticeably the present best seller Nissan Qashqai, Renault’s Kadjar and it’s own in house VW Group contender, the recently launched SEAT Ateca.

Exterior designer Karl Neuhold believes that his team having spent the past four years working “from literally a clean, white sheet of paper” they have come up with a model that looks different to all the others.

“We had to have a design look that was clean with sculptured body lines and an overall shape that was bold, imaginative that gave the car a masculine look and a true identity of its own,” he told me at the international unveiling in Stockholm. “It still had to have the true Skoda DNA in its make up with that dominant nose at the front and horizontal lines running around the car.”

In terms of outside looks there is definitely no trace of the Yeti and this Karoq is 160mm longer, 50mm wider and has a 60mm longer wheelbase, that’s also identical to the Ateca, both being built on the same platform.

Mechanically the Karoq shares much of the technology know-how, engines and mechanical underpinnings and parts as others in the VW group which of course gives it a head start and obviously saves the Czech in development costs.

At launch there will be a choice of five engines, two petrol and three diesels, again all well proven from the VW family stable.

Entry-level will see the 1.0-litre three-cylinder 115bhp petrol engine with 175Nm of torque and CO2 of 117 g/km and the other petrol will be a 1.5-litre four-cylinder 148bhp unit with 250Nm of torque and CO2 of 119 g/km.

The diesels will start with the 1.6-litre 113bhp with 250Nm of torque and CO2 of 118g/km and next up will be a 2.0-litre 148bhp with 340Nm of torque and a CO2 of 115g/km and this latter one is expected to be the best seller here.

The only engine being offered with 4WD is the 2.0-litre 228bhp unit with 400Nm of torque with a CO2 of 138g/km and it will be offered with a seven-speed dual-clutch automatic transmission.

All the FWD versions will have as standard a six-speed manual gearbox, again from the VW workshops while Skoda CEO Bernhard Maier told the 400 motoring writers from across Europe at the unveiling that further traditional Skoda model variants, such as SportLine and Scout would follow including by 2019 their first PHEV plug in hybrid in this range.

Drivers who like to drive VRS Octavia style sports versions won’t be disappointed either because in due course such a derivative will be added to the Karoq line up he declared.

How much will this new Karoq cost?

Obviously with over six months still to go before it reaches the showroom suggestion of prices are just that with a probable starting of around £18,000 mark for the one cylinder entry-level version, bearing in mind the current entry-level price for a Qashqai is £19,995 and for the Ateca its £18,195.

Taking a quick glimpse of the interior of this new Karoq and it certainly impressive and far better than the loveable Yeti with a centrally but high positioned and easy to use infotainment system and Skoda chiefs say there will four different options available with the entry-level looking impressive a 6.5-inch screen that has DAB radio and Bluetooth connectivity while for the first time in a Skoda the VW group’s digital instrument panel will be part of the package.

Most first-timers looking inside this new Karoq will spot how much more passenger space there is, noticeably in the rear seats so Skoda’s backroom team have used that extra body length and width of the car to good advantage.

Boot space is 521 litres but folding the rear seats down and this shoots up to 1,630 litres and one natty versatile space option to be offered will be a VarioFlex seating set up where all three seats can individually be taken out, or the whole lot together, which would give a load space in the rear of 1,810 litres.

As one would expect on any VW group new model today this Karoq has an ample number of safety features onboard while wheel choices will include, 17, 18 and 19-inch sizes.

So while true Yeti fans may mourn the passing of their model this all new Karoq will be a different ball game as they say and offer so much more all round for families in particular looking for a stylish, fresh-faced practical and versatile family mover.

Pricing of course will be a key issue at the end of the day.

Theres was outstanding success for Harlow Gymnastics Club at the East Region Recreational Levels Finals in Ipswich.

The gymnasts competed for Essex against others from Suffolk, Hertfordshire, Cambridgeshire, Norfolk and Bedfordshire after qualifying at the Essex County levels competition in April.

Competing in the age 11-12 level 5 event, Kingsmead Academy pupil, Katie Islin (11) won the gold medal for vault. In the same event, Purfords Green Primary pupil, Kacey Butler (7) was awarded the silver medal on beam.

Competing in the age 11-12 event, Holly Montgomery (11) received the silver medal on floor, with teammate Millie Upton (12), a student at St Marks, placing fifth on beam.

Previously at the Essex qualifier age 11-12 level 5 event, Kacey won gold medal on vault, fourth place rosettes for bars and beam and sixth place rosette for floor, as well as the overall fourth place rosette.

Racey received a bronze medal on beam, fifth place rosette on floor, seventh place rosette on vault.

At the age 13-15 Essex Qualifier, Millie won the overall bronze medal along with the gold medal for beam, fourth place rosette for bar and fifth place rosette for vault and Holly Montgomery won the bronze medal on floor.

Earlier this month, Sheering Primary pupil Emily Pask (seven) placed sixth on bars in the Regional level 2 age 8/9 event, after winning the bronze medal for bars in the Essex County Qualifier Competition.

Yasmin Thong (nine) placed ninth on bars and eighth on beam in the regional final, before the William Martin. Primary pupil finished fourth overall after receiving bronze medals for bars and beam and fourth place rosettes for vault.

Previously at the Essex qualifier age 11-12 level 5 event, Kingsmoor Competing in the age 11-12 event, Butler (ten) was awarded the rosettes for bars and beam

In the Essex qualifiers, Beth won the silver medal on floor, fifth place rosette on bars and the sixth place overall rosette in the level 5 age 11/12. Gymnastics coach Chelsea Smith said, “We are all really proud of the girls, they were absolutely amazing and to compete in a regional event is a great achievement.”

Harlow Gymnastics Club’s Katie Islin, Emily Pask and Kacey Butler and floor in the level 2 age 10/12 county event. Bethany Porter (11) also qualified for the regional competition, but was unable to attend.

Baxter hauls Harlow to fine victory

Harlow travelled to Hadleigh & Thundersley on Saturday hoping to stay close to the promotion spots in Shepherd Neame Essex Cricket League Division One.

The surface looked slightly better than usual and when skipper Rehman Ahmed won the toss, he elected to bat.

Harlow soon realised it was still a difficult wicket to bat on with balls misbehaving and struggled to build any real partnership.

Only Rehman showed any application with 36, before one keeping low trapped him lbw. With the score on 120-7, the game already looked to be Hadleigh, however all-rounder Nick Baxter (6/50), walked to the crease and stretched the innings.

Along with the tail, who gave him support and the strike, his superb selective batting took the score to 209-9 off 30 overs, a defendable score.

Hadleigh also found their pitch difficult and lost both openers early. Baxter and Mitch Howarde taking the wicket of each opener.

Hadleigh then set about to rebuild the innings. During this time, the Harlow bowlers kept it tight to make sure that none of the batsmen could get in on a difficult wicket.

The breakthrough came from leggie Ross Vassani taking a smart caught and bowled. Baxter was then reintroduced into the attack and destroyed Hadleigh’s innings.

He cleaned bowled three batsmen and found an lbw, as he finished with figures of 5-22. Hafiz Yavar (4-21) and Howarde (3-26) then mopped up the tail, as the home side were all out for 131.

Harlow host South Woodford this Saturday.

Town fall just short in loss

Harlow Town suffered a narrow six-run defeat at home to Wallington.

The visitors won the toss and made 239 all out from their 50 overs.

Ben Smith topscored for the hosts making 81, with opener Deepak Kandepan falling three runs short of a half-century.

Jay Pathak was the best of the Harlow bowling attack taking 5-38 from his ten overs, including the big wicket of Smith.

With bowler Paul Morrell unavailable at Hadleigh, Harlow bowlers came agonisingly close to securing the win, with the last wicket falling with four balls to go and seven runs needed.

Openers Daniel Baldwin (45) and Ashley Alderson (25) had put on a fine opening stand.

Neil Gladwin (49) top scored and Daniel Farmer also contributed well with 32. Asif Bala took 4-42 for the visitors.
